SENTENCE IS WITHHELD IN 'BURGER' CASE

EDWIN BLACK ENTERS PLEAS OF GUILTY ON TWO COUNTS

Edwin Black, Indianapolis, entered pleas of guilty on two counts when arraigned before Judge John H. Allee in Putnam circuit court late Monday afternoon. Black was charged with the sale of horse meat not government inspected and also with offering for sale horse meat in Greencastle on February 1, 1949, in an affidavit signed by Frank E. Fisher of the Indiana Board of Health.

The defendant was represented by Harry Reddell, Indianapolis attorney, and the court was asked to withhold sentence here pending the final disposition of a similar case in the Marion county criminal court.

Black told Judge Allee that he has been driving a taxi in Indianapolis recently. He is married and father of four children.

Samples of the meat sold by Black were picked up in a south Greencastle store by a State Board of Health representative who followed the truck driven by the defendant from Indianapolis to this city. Analysis of the packaged meat sold here was found to contain horse meat.

Black and 11 other men were arrested in raids on two Indianapolis processing plants later in February.

Judge Allee told Black that he would be notified when to appear for sentencing and released him on his own recognizance.

Carriers Enjoy Three-Day Trip

A happy group of boys and girls carriers of The Daily Banner, Indianapolis News and Indianapolis Star, left this morning for a visit in Detroit, Mich., and Canada. This trip, with all expenses paid, was the result of their efforts in obtaining new subscribers. They will return Thursday evening.

Youngsters going from Greencastle were Charles Seathoff, Norman Sutherland, John David, Wayne Kendam and Ke. Hender, Wendell Pell, circulation manager of The Banner, was with this group.

Carriers from over the county who are making the trip are: Martha and Mary Lee Spencer, Russellville; Mary Ellen and Barbara Sutherland, Cloverdale; Bill Chadd, Fillmore; Patty Gimes, Russellville; and Dona M. Blois, Bainbridge.

LOCAL SERVICE BAD FOR TELEGRAPH USERS

Local users of the Western Union Telegraph Co., are complaining about the service after late in the afternoon when the office closes. All incoming or outgoing messages have to be telephoned to Indianapolis, thus adding greatly to the expenses. Apparently regardless of the importance of the incoming messages they are telephoned collected from Indianapolis. It is too bad that the office here has to close and the big four city handling night messages. The city is probably one of the few of its size that is without telegraph service during more than half the time.

IN GREENCASTLE

Nathan Call was here from Rochdale on business. Mrs. Emma Croushore was hostess to the Mt. Olive Missionary Society. Section Two of the Christian church met with Mrs. Allen. Martha Ellen Rector gave a reading during the program. Frank Young left for Greencastle, California. Dick Taylor turned in a card for the first 36 holes of the state open golf tournament at Anderson.

SHOCK FATAL TO SPENCER PASTOR

Rev. Harry Hagaman, a Nazarene evangelist at Spencer, was electrocuted Monday by a light cord he had wrapped around his wrist while crawling beneath his house. He was about 55 years old.

Rev. Hagaman was hunting for a section of pipe to erect a clothes line when he died. Dr. F. R. Smith, Owen county coroner, said the minister was shocked by a short in the light cord.

LOCAL LIONS CLUB INSTALLS NEW OFFICERS

GOOD MEETING HELD AT OLD TRAIL INN ON MONDAY

New officers of the Greencastle Lions Club were installed Monday evening during a dinner meeting held at Old Trail Inn. Speakers for the occasion were Clyde Gentry, of Crawfordsville, Past District Governor, and Prof. Osman, of Purdue University.

Prof. Osman of the "bugology" department of Purdue, was the main speaker. His subject was on flies. He said the fly is the worst carrier of disease today and he told how to rid the country of them. He said it is all due to the proper sanitation. He tied his story of the fly in with the efforts of the Lions club to spray the city. This work will be done the latter part of the month.

Prof. Osman told how many flies one pair will breed within a few weeks and it runs into eighteen ciphers of figures. He said garbage removal once a week is not often enough, due to the fact that flies will develop and get away within four days. He urged housewives to keep clean garbage pails, to spray around where flies live and to help keep the city sanitary. He told of driving up and down our alleys and deplored the fact that garbage is left in ash pits and in the alleys. He also told how inexpensive sprays can be made by the use of proper solutions of water and DDT and urged that everyone, including the Lions work on keeping down flies and their breeding places.

Following the serious part of the meeting, Past Governor Gentry installed the new officers. Then the real party was started. A lot of fun was had and the climax came when three members made and modeled some home-made hats, after they had voted that women's hats are "cock-eyed." The hat made by Mr. Gentry and modeled by Kenneth Kersey was voted the winner, as the applause broke the meter when he displayed his creation.

J. Russell Myers, it was announced, has been named Zone Chairman by the new district governor, and he will have charge of local zone meetings during the coming year.

The officials of the local club for the ensuing year are: President—Herbert Nadzeika; Secretary—Sydney D. Mandelblatt; Treasurer—M. Richard Rossok; First Vice-President—Lewell C. Collins; Second Vice-President—Staten Owens; Third Vice-President—Burns J. Currie; Tail Twister—Joseph Y. Todd; Lion Tamer—Paul P. Evans; Director-2 years—Bayard S. Allen; Director-2 years—Russell O. Clapp; Director-1 year—Maurice Hurst; Director-1 year—Audrey W. Leinberger.

Farmer Drowns In Wabash River

ATTICA, July 12—(UP)—Authorities today dragged the Wabash river north of here for the body of Paul Carlson, an Attica farmer, Carlson disappeared last night while testing a new motor boat engine. No trace of the boat was discovered.

FINANCES OF CO. HOSPITAL IN GOOD SHAPE

$9,000 BALANCE FOR FIRST SIX MONTHS; BUDGET SUM UNTOUCHED

Despite some adverse publicity in recent weeks, figures on file at the office of James Wright, Putnam county auditor, reveal that at long last the county hospital is now on a practically self-supporting basis.

From January 1, 1949 to July 1, 1949, receipts at the hospital totaled $102,269.12. Disbursements for this same period were $92,829.16. This leaves a balance of $9,439.96.

In addition, the sum of $32,755.66 levied in this year's budget for the hospital is still untouched. Also, the semi-annual tax distribution in December will allocate approximately $27,729.00 to the hospital.

From the above figures it is apparent that the hospital should show a slight profit or at least break even at the end of the year.

A $63,000 operating deficit last year was due mainly to the repairs and alterations ordered by state agencies in order to keep the hospital open.

All credit is due members of the hospital board and the hospital staff for the business-like manner in which the hospital is now operating.

SOME INCOME TAX FIGURES FOR INDIANA

Putnam county farmers who have been assessed an additional income tax should take a look at the total figures for the fiscal year just completed. They have been issued by Ralph W. Cripe, Indiana collector. On slot machines alone, the state collected $849,932.23. The total for the state was $944,222,429.99. In comparison, the total for 1939 was $113,515,117.75. Farmers have complained about their taxes, but corporations paid a total of $208,979,026.64.

Council Passes Fund Requests

The Putnam county council concluded its two-day session Tuesday by allowing additional appropriations totaling more than $63,000. Included was the sum of $3,663 to cover the recent enumeration of male voters in the county. This appropriation passed by a vote of 4 to 1.

Due to being confined in the county hospital, George Ensign missed his first session of the county council in sixteen years. Frank Vaughn presided as vice chairman of the group. Mr. Ensign's absence. As a mark of respect for the veteran councilman, the other members of the board ordered a bouquet of flowers sent to the bedside of their convalescing colleague.

A total of $9,425.50 was allowed in appropriations under county revenue, which in addition to the enumeration claim also included $3,000 for poor relief.

The sum of $4,000 for the salary of a renegologist under hospital maintenance was allowed. Under the gasoline tax fund, $25,000 was allowed for stone and $25,000 for bituminous material.

Russ Turn Back 2 U.S. Vehicles

VIENNA, Austria, July 12—(UP)—Russian guards at Enns bridge, dividing the American and Soviet zones, turned back two American Army armored cars yesterday, the Army said today.

The vehicles were returning to Vienna from training maneuvers. Other traffic moved normally.

American authorities promptly protested the Soviet action. PUTNAM COURT NOTES: Vivian M. Gorham vs Jesse Gorham Gorham, suit for divorce. Hughes & Hughes are attorneys for the plaintiff.

MEET TO FORESTALL STEEL STRIKE

SYDNEY, Australia, July 12—(UP)—Prosperous Australia is stagnating in a Communist-led general coal strike, which will make nearly a million persons jobless if it lasts through July.

Already at least 600,000 out of Australia's 8,000,000 population have lost their jobs since the strike began June 27. Unemployed seek government relief in many cities on a scale comparable to pre-war depression days.

The 1,500,000 people of Sydney, second biggest "white" city in the British empire, are living in squalor-like conditions.

Hardships and misery are growing in most of the continent's populous southern industrial areas because the miners struck in the middle of Australia's winter after coal stocks had been virtually exhausted.

Most Australians see little hope of an early settlement.

14 Hooded Mob Suspects Booked

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., July 12 (UP)—Sheriff's deputies who yesterday arrested 14 persons indicted for participation in hooded terrorism here today hoped to complete their bag with the seizure of three other accused night riders.

In a daylong roundup yesterday, authorities hauled in 14 of the 17 persons charged by the jury with taking part in more than a dozen recent floggings and intimidations.

The other three were reported "out of the county" and officers were on the lookout for their return.

Six of those arrested yesterday were held in Jefferson county (Birmingham) jail without bond. They included former special deputy Coleman A. (Brownie) Lollar, who was named by one terror victim as a ringleader in the hooded outrages.

Also arrested with the police chief of suburban Brookside, Elmer Bailey Brock, 59. He was charged with neglect of duty and intimidating a witness and released when he made $300 bond. Bonds ranging from $1,000 to $4,000 were set for the others. All 14 of the men booked yesterday either denied membership in the Ku Klux Klan or refused to answer reporters' questions about Klan membership.

Berlin Airlift Plane Crashes

BERLIN, July 12—(UP)—A Berlin-bound American C-54 airlift plane crashed in the Soviet zone of Germany early today.

There was no immediate word as to the fate of the crew, believed to total three. A ground search party left Potsdam for the scene of the crash, two miles east of Klaitz and 53 miles west of Berlin, just outside the Hamburg-Berlin Airlift corridor.

The plane radioed it was having engine trouble just before the crash. There have been 15 fatal crashes in the little more than a year that the Airlift has been operating, killing 52 persons. Nine of the crashes involved American planes, and 29 American fliers have been killed.

For the third straight day, the Russians were slowing Berlin-bound trucks on the Helmsdorf-Berlin super-highway to four an hour. They have closed altogether the other 11 zonal border crossings which Allied trucks had been using to bring food and other supplies to western Berlin.

The Russians promised last night they would explain everything today in a reply to an official British protest.

The truck dispute also was expected to be brought today at the first meeting of the Berlin Kommandatura on a four-power basis since July 1, 1948.

Noted Chicago Columnist Dies

CHICAGO, July 12—(UP)—Keneaw M. Landis II, columnist for the Chicago Sun-Times, died today in Billings Memorial hospital.

Landis, 39, had been ill for several years. He was forced to rest at his home at Pottawatomie Point, Logansport, Ind., at frequent intervals. He entered Billings for surgery a week ago.

He was born at Logansport, where he had continued his practice of law since he began writing his column in 1941.

Landis was a member of a distinguished family. He was named for his great uncle, Judge Keneaw Mountain Landis, the first High Commissioner of baseball and former Federal Jurist.

Landis' father, Frederick, was a congressman as was an uncle, Charles. Another uncle, Walter, was the first postmaster in Puerto Rico and another uncle, John, was Health Commissioner of Cincinnati.

TRUMAN MAY ASK DELAY IN STEEL WALKOUT

PRESIDENT EXPECTED TO APPEAL PERSONALLY TO UNION HEADS

WASHINGTON, July 12—(UP)—President Truman may make a personal appeal to CIO President Philip Murray to postpone the nationwide steel strike scheduled for Saturday, informed sources said today.

The informants said the President is considering a request to Murray to delay the walkout 30 to 60 days to give a Fact-Finding board a chance to hold hearings and make recommendations.

Such a move, if successful, would spare Mr. Truman the political embarrassment of resorting to the injunction provision of the Taft-Hartley Act which repeatedly has asked Congress to scrap.

In January, 1946, Murray postponed a steel strike for one week at the President's request.

The current steel contract dispute was referred to the White House by Federal Mediation Chief Cyrus Ching last night after a fruitless, two-and-a-half-hour meeting with Murray and representatives of the steel industry.

Ching told newsmen that "neither side gave an indication of changing its mind." He said he plans no recommendations to Mr. Truman, but "will it asked."

Murray called a meeting later today in Pittsburgh of his United Steelworkers Executive Board and wage policy committee to discuss strike plans. He said some 500,000 workers in 86 basic steel companies and 101 other firms will begin their walkout at 12:01 A. M. Saturday.

The remainder of the union's 1,000,000 members, he said, will be called out as their contracts expire up until early October. Mr. Truman is expected to appoint a fact-finding panel to give the union and the steel industry a chance to put on record their arguments for and against the union's demands for a general wage increase, an insurance system and a pension plan.

The Chief Executive reportedly is thinking of calling on his old friend and former adviser, Judge Samuel Rosenman of New York to head the fact-finding board. Rosenman is a close friend of Murray.

John A. Stephens, vice-president of U. S. Steel Corp., said after yesterday's conference with Ching that negotiations are deadlocked because of the union's insistence on $150-a-month pension. He said his company is willing to bargain on insurance and respond in detail on its reasons for turning down a general pay boost.

Truman Sticks To Spending Program

WASHINGTON, July 12 (UP)—President Truman's midyear economic report promised today to bring a bitter showdown with the powerful group of Republicans and Democrats in congress who insist that government costs must be cut to avoid disaster.

Much of the specific anti-inflation legislation proposed by the president was given a good chance to obtain favorable congressional action. But Mr. Truman stuck by his big spending program for the 1950 fiscal year.

The President said he would continue with deficit financing. In plain English that means to continue to spend more than the government's income and to make up the difference by borrowing. His abandonment of the $4,000,000,000 tax increase proposal of last January got congressional cheers almost all around.

Mr. Truman will carry the spending battle to the people. The White House announced he will speak over the four major radio networks at 10:30 p. m. EDT tomorrow in a "plain understandable English" discussion of the economic situation. His address probably will arouse more political controversy than did the history. (Continued on Page Three)

EXTRA!

Plane Crash In West Kills 10

CHATHAM, Cal., July 1 (INS)—Crash of a Commercial transport plane carrying 4 persons killed 10 of the passengers today and critically injured another 30 after the Pilot radioed there was "fighting" aboard.

A Los Angeles police radio flashed the word to headquarters after arriving at the scene: there are ten persons dead. Thirty persons are critically injured. Rush all ambulances immediately.

The ship burned following the crash in the Santa Susana mountains.

The accident occurred after the Pilot radioed Lockheed Air Terminal that one man was badly beaten in a fight with other passengers. The Pilot asked that ambulances and police be ready when the craft landed.

Headquarters of the Standard Airlines which operated the C-47 cargo type plane reported that its radio failed 15 minutes before it was due to land.

GOP Attack Blow To Farm Program

WASHINGTON, July 12—(INS)—Rep. Cooley D. N. C. told President Truman today that the Republican attack on new farm legislation is endangering the administration's entire agricultural support program.

Cooley reported that the Republican opposition to the administration farm bill is being supported by some House Democrats. He said he warned the President that farm prices will drop next year unless the administration measure is cleared for action before Congress adjourns.

Speedy Action On Strike Forecast

WASHINGTON, July 12—(INS)—The White House today forecast speedy action by President Truman to block a threatened strike next week end of one million steel workers.

Presidential Press Secretary Charles G. Ross told newsmen the steel dispute, focal point of labor's drive for fourth-round wage increases, "is under consideration," he added.

"There may be a presidential statement later in the day."

Truman Sticks To Spending Program

WASHINGTON, July 12 (UP)—A refugee official said today that he believed the tiny Swedish vessel Brilantin, en route to Canada with 60 political refugees, had sunk without trace in the Atlantic.

Umar Andrejsons, secretary of the Latvian Relief Association, said the tiny, overcrowded vessel left Sweden June 9 on a trip that normally would have taken a fortnight. It was carrying three times the normal number of passengers.

TEXAS GOVERNOR'S FUNERAL TOMORROW

AUSTIN, Tex., July 12—(UP)—The body of Gov. Beauford H. Jester lay in state today beneath the Lone Star Flag of Texas. Flown here from Houston, where the 56-year-old Chief Executive was found dead of a heart ailment in his sleeping car berth, the body rested overnight in the executive mansion and then was laid out in state in the State Senate Chambers.

Following a brief service this afternoon, the body will be flown to Jester's hometown, Corsicana, for burial tomorrow. Messages of condolence included one from President Miguel Aleman of Mexico who described Jester as "a good friend of the Mexicans." State officials said the governor's death undoubtedly was due to his "devotion to duty" during the recent legislative session, the longest in the state's history.

13 AMERICAN CORRESPONDENTS DIE IN CRASH

DUTCH AIRLINER FALLS NEAR BOMBAY KILLING 47 ABOARD

BOMBAY, INDIA, July 12—(UP)—Forty-seven persons including 13 top-ranking American newspaper correspondents were killed today when a Royal Dutch (KLM) Constellation airliner crashed outside Bombay.

The American newsmen were returning from a month's visit to Indonesia as guests of the Dutch government. Two other Americans in the party which went to Indonesia remained in Batavia when the ill-fated plane took off yesterday.

Batavia reported the following Americans were aboard the airliner: William Newton, Scripps-Howard newspapers; H. R. Knickerbocker, war commentator; S. Burton Heath, Newspaper Enterprise Association; Bertram Hulen, New York Times; Nat A. Barrows, Chicago Daily News; Charles Gratke, Christian Science Monitor; Vincent Maloney, San Francisco Chronicle; James Brannan, Houston (Tex.) Post; John Werkey, Time Magazine; Elsie Dick, mutual broadcasting system; Thomas Falco, Business Week; George Moorad, Portland Oregonian; Fred Colvic, Denver Post.

The two American correspondents who remained behind in Batavia were Mrs. Dorothy Brandon of the New York Herald-Tribune and William R. Matthews of the Arizona Star.

The U. S. Embassy at New Delhi confirmed that all 57 persons aboard the plane were killed. The passengers also included Dutch newsmen and government officials.

Officials at Santa Cruz, Bombay's airport, said rescue parties were on their way to the scene.

The plane was the only Dutch aircraft that has been given permission to fly over India since the Dutch began their "policy action" in Indonesia last December.

The Dutch government brought the American and Dutch newsmen to Indonesia a month ago to report first-hand on conditions in the East Indies now on relations between the Dutch government and the Indonesian republic.

CIO To Re-Elect Walter Reuther

MILWAUKEE, July 12—(UP)—Red-haired Walter P. Reuther was expected to rout his left-wing opposition today and sweep easily to his third straight term as President of the giant CIO United Auto Workers.

The scrappy 41-year-old labor leader appeared certain to emerge with more power than ever as the 2,354 national convention delegates voted for their four top officers.

Secretary-Treasurer Emil Mazey and vice-president Richard Gosser and John W. Livingston also were slated for landslide reelection victories.

This became apparent last night as the delegates unanimously endorsed the Reuther slate while only 100 delegates showed up for a caucus of the left-wing "progressive unity" slate.

Carrying the standard for the unity caucus was W. G. Grant, former President of Ford Local.

IN MEMORY

In loving memory of my dear husband, Lloyd Knight, who passed away 6 years ago today July 12, 1943.

What would I give to clasp his hand.

His happy face to see.

To hear his voice and see his smile.

That meant so much to me.

Thou art gone dear husband.

Gone beyond this world of tears.

But the memory of you will ever linger, through the passing years.

When the evening shades are falling.

And I am sitting all alone.

In my heart there comes a longing.

If he could only come home.

ACCUSES SLAYER

SURRENDER of a 35-year-old ex-convict, Henry Gulbrandsen, at Eureka, Cal., and his calm confession and a state-wide search for a slayer-rapist. Gulbrandsen told police he bulldozed two friends, Lt. Peter J. Flint, 27, and Peter Jensen, 54, to death "while in a stupor." Mrs. Eva Padgett, 27 (above), mother of two children, charges Gulbrandsen criminally assaulted her after the slayings in a lavishly furnished cabin near Sonoma in California's Valley of the Moon. People are being murdered in Brooklyn almost every day.

But now the story becomes different from the usual murder case.

As a rule, when a murder is committed, the police hunt for the murderer.

The victim is known, the slayer has to be ferreted out by the police.

But not in this case.

No one knows who the murdered man is.

The prisoner won't talk.

Or at least, he denies his guilt and claims he did not know the slain man.

So now, instead of trying to find the murderer, they are trying to identify the murdered.

All that is known about him is that he had been around the neighborhood for many years.

"Leo," they called him.

Nobody knew where he lived, where he came from in the morning, where he went to at night.

He made a scanty living, people who were questioned said, pushing a small cart about the neighborhood streets, picking up discarded junk and selling it to dealers.

Hundreds were queried.

Sure, they knew Leo, the junk-man.

Didn't they see him foraging around garbage cans?

Didn't they watch him carefully selecting things that might bring a few pennies?

But that was all.

And as the police record of his killing identifies him as "one Leo Doe, a true photograph of whom is hereto annexed and made part hereof, a 'na' person, whose name and identity are presently unknown."

What has this story got to do with "looking at life?"

Oh, nothing much.

I inquired about a few, primarily the ones on the less costly tombstones.

And as I inquired, it struck me how quickly most people are forgotten, how little imprint they leave on the world, to what insignificance all the worries and ambitions fade in so short a time.

It struck me that the names of many who once thought that they were so important are "Leo Doe" today.

FARMING Comments

By County Agent
KENNETH HARRIS

It's good to be back in Putnam County after spending three weeks in Ft. Collins, Colorado attending the Colorado A. M. College summer sessions for Extension Workers.

After exchanging ideas and thoughts on developing youth programs we found that Indiana seems to have one of the most operating 4-H county programs in the nation. Putnam County is apparently a typical unit as far as club work is concerned. The organization and set-up of programs vary greatly between states and even between counties within states.

In reporting on the cooperation between organizations, service clubs, business people and the extension office many agents over the country were very much impressed with the number and amount of special awards and sponsorship given the 4-H club program.

In analyzing our club program it was found that 25 different persons and organizations cooperate directly with our club program which has been largely responsible for its success to date.

As an extra activity while in Colorado the entire group of 155 extension agents visited the 60,000 acre Wyoming Hereford Ranch near Cheyenne. Here over 1000 registered Hereford cows comprise probably the greatest single cattle breeding establishment in the west.

W. H. R. was established by Henry P. Crowell, an idealist who had made his fortune on Quaker Oats. It is set up as a trust and managed by three trustees headed by Bob Lazear who is general farm manager. The ranch is operated as a commercial enterprise, except the cattle which are brought in for a show herd and is definitely on a paying basis. The proceeds or profits are put back into the organization for expansion and improvement and quality.

With the exception of the show cattle every animal on W. H. R. is handled on an approved range program without winter shelter of any kind. The reason for this is that they are developed cattle that will withstand the most severe range conditions and produce high quality beef for the average rancher.

For many years W. H. R. has been one of the leaders in the show ring and their cattle have topped most of the National Hereford sales. Two herd bulls on the farm have produced over a half million dollars of cattle that have actually been sold through the auction ring or private treaty.

There are approximately 50 full time men on W. H. R. who live under very good conditions at the ranch with each married family having a completely modern house and the single cowhands living in very well equipped dormitory buildings. In talking with these cowhands they are all quite well satisfied and feel that they have a part of the biggest and best cattle ranch in the west. In the Office of W. H. R. hangs a rug from the hide of Helmsman III, a bull which Lazear refused $100,000 for as a four-year old. In less than six months after this valuation, the herd sire died, however, several of the better cattle on W. H. R. will carry on his blood lines.

FARM NEWS

Putnam County farmers who are harvesting wheat yields in excess of 25 bushels per acre are cautioned that straw should be destroyed if the young clover is not damaged.

Purdue University agronomists recommend clipping the stubble and baling the straw. Farmers, however, who do not remove the straw, should clip the stubble and cutpack the straw back of the mower to contact it with the soil. Tests at Purdue showed that clipping and cutpacking gave almost as good results as moving the straw entirely, following a 40 bushel wheat crop. Burning the straw is never recommended.

More organic matter is gained from protecting a legume crop than is gained from the straw. The phosphate and potash lost in the straw can usually be purchased with returns from the baled straw.

Reports of the use of field choppers to "work-up" the straw have been enthusiastic about means for disposal.

Sweet clover should not be clipped as it does not make recovery from the crown buds. Fortunately, sweet clover can stand the competition with heavy straw, stubble and weeds better than other clovers.

Farmers need not hesitate to clip alfalfa and clover, other than sweet clover, close to the ground as they recover from the buds at the soil surface and very little recovery growth comes from the stem branches. Clipping should follow combining promptly and if necessary, again about the last of August. Limited pasturing may also work the straw to the ground and unless continued, too late, will not destroy vigorously growing clover.

ANNOUNCE CIRCULAR ON SOIL-LESS CULTURE

The steadily increasing number of inquiries regarding soil-less water culture of plants not only from the United States but from foreign countries also, has resulted in the publication of the circular, "Nutriculture." The circular, published by the Purdue University Agricultural Experiment Station, describes the problem from the commercial standpoint.

Formulas for nutrient solutions and lists of the ingredients used in the solutions make p much of the circular. Both chemical and popular names of ingredients are given.

Construction of beds, irrigation of plants, location of water pumps in relation to plant beds, liquid, sand and large aggregate culture are also discussed.

Since tolerances of the different nutrients necessary to plant growth in liquid and aggregate culture or nutriculture are somewhat close, testing of both plant tissue and the solution is recommended. Correct proportions of plant nutrient material insures efficient growth of plants. The nutriculture circular outlines the important steps of the tests.

Copies of the nutriculture circular may be obtained free from county agents, or the Agricultural Experiment Station, Purdue University, Lafayette, Indiana.

FRENCH LEAVE TOO NOISY

FORT WORTH, Tex. (UP)—A pre-dawn attempt to leave a hotel via the fire escape without paying his bill landed a man in jail with a loud crash. His four pieces of luggage caused the fire escape stairway to swing earthward with such force that pulleys and balance weights broke. The clatter awoke other guests, who called police.

IN HOG FEEDING, TOO

It's the fast finish that counts!

Hogs that hit the early market bring the best price.

Records show that over a 42 year period, the September market has averaged $1.67 more per hundredweight than December prices. This year the difference should be even greater. The current high prices should drop off considerably late this year, due to the large number of spring pigs being farrowed.

This year—more than ever—FEED PORKMAKER FOR HIGHER PROFITS

You can make sure of hitting the early market by feeding your hogs the new Farm Bureau Porkmaker, containing even more water solubles of the vitamin B6 complex. Purdue University proved this in a recent experiment: Hogs fed corn and a good supplement, reached market weight two months ahead of those fed corn alone. The supplement-fed hogs required 31% less corn to put on 100 pounds. Figured at today's prices, corn is worth twice as much when fed to hogs along with a good supplement—like Farm Bureau Porkmaker.

There's plenty OF PORKMAKER AVAILABLE ... at your Farm Bureau Co-op

REINDEER BREEDING TRIED ON MICHIGAN RANCH

COLDWATER, Mich., —(UP)—The first reindeer, born in captivity in this country has appeared on the Edwin Butters ranch near here.

Three does and one buck were brought to the ranch two years ago by dog sled and plane from Alaska. Butters hopes to learn whether reindeer can become acclimated to Michigan weather.

During the spring and summer, the reindeer are kept in a large stall 10 feet below ground under the barn. A low temperature is maintained at all times. The 13 pound baby buck was born here.

Butters said this is the first attempt to import reindeer into this country since 1937.

Agricultural seeds first were sold commercially in the United States about 1747.
